Mining Machine Rental Agreement

Dear Laniaex users:

Laniaex (hereinafter referred to as "we") is committed to the principle of Mining as a Service, using the latest technology to provide multi-algorithm, multi-currency cloud mining services. By selling or leasing mining machines/computing power to Party A, while also providing entrusted management and mining maintenance services, we provide Party A with a one-stop solution for cryptocurrency mining capabilities of varying scales.

The following are our Terms of Service. Your actions on our website and platform will be subject to these Terms of Service, which establish your legal rights and obligations. Please read these Terms of Service carefully and fully understand them, especially the bolded sections. If you have any questions about this agreement, please do not proceed.

By using the platform services, confirming this agreement online, or otherwise accepting this agreement, you are deemed to have fully understood all terms and conditions and agree to enter into this agreement with us.

If you have any questions or objections to this Agreement before agreeing to it, please contact us so we can explain and clarify it for your full understanding and help you make your own decision about whether to accept this Agreement and use our services.

In accordance with relevant laws and regulations, and after equal and voluntary negotiations between the parties, we hereby agree to the following terms regarding Party A's leasing (purchasing) of mining machines/computing power from Laniaex and entrusting Laniaex to provide hosting services, for mutual compliance and execution by both parties:

I. Leasing (Purchasing) of Mining Machines

1.1 Information on the mining machines/computing power that Laniaex provides you with for leasing (purchasing) and entrusted management services is available in the associated order.

1.2 Leasing or purchasing mining machines/computing power: Laniaex provides users with designated models and quantities of mining machines/computing power. Users can choose to (1) lease or (2) purchase to obtain the right to use or ownership of the mining machines/computing power during the term of this Agreement. However, regardless of whether the lease or purchase method is adopted, the user agrees to simultaneously entrust Laniaex to manage the mining machines in order to maximize the user's computing power and protect the user's rights and interests to the greatest extent possible. If the user entrusts Laniaex to manage the mining machines for more than 24 months by purchasing, the user has the right to terminate the entrusted management service of the mining machines with prior written notice to Laniaex (generally 30 days in advance to allow Laniaex sufficient preparation time) and arrange transportation to pick up the mining machines to the address prepared by the user.

II. Contents of entrusted management services for mining machines

2.1 Site support services: Laniaex provides hosting services such as host site, power supply, broadband network support, security monitoring, host management, and troubleshooting for users who lease or purchase mining machines, and assists Party A or the manufacturer in repairs.

2.2 Daily Monitoring Service: Laniaex will conduct daily monitoring to ensure the smooth operation of the mining machines that users have rented or purchased and entrusted to us for management.

2.3 Network and Information Security: Laniaex is obligated to cooperate with relevant national authorities in handling internet and information security matters as required.

2.4 Mining Machine Safety and Compensation: Laniaex will ensure the safety of the equipment entrusted to Party A for management, ensuring it is not lost or damaged. In the event of loss or damage, Party B will compensate Party A for the equipment at the price paid.

2.5 Mining Machine Transportation: Laniaex will be responsible for the transportation, logistics, and insurance during domestic to international shipments of the mining machines purchased by users. Freight will be charged to users based on the actual amount incurred. However, Laniaex will notify users in advance before selecting transportation and insurance, and users will confirm the selected transportation method, insurance type, and other related matters to ensure that the aforementioned costs are within reasonable market prices. (Note that this transportation agreement does not apply to users who purchase mining machines and pick them up themselves.)

III. Lease and Entrusted Management Term

3.1 Regardless of whether the user chooses to lease or purchase, the operating term of the mining machine entrusted to the user for management is the agreed lease term or 12 months (calculated from the time the user pays the lease or purchase fee; this website will separately notify the user in writing of the commencement date).

3.2 If the user chooses to purchase and the mining machine entrusted to the user for management has operated for more than one year, the user has the right to terminate Laniaex's custody authorization by providing Laniaex with 30 days' written notice prior to the expiration of the second entrusted management period. Laniaex may negotiate with the user to cease operation of the mining machine at an appropriate time and cooperate with Party A in transporting the mining machine. However, Laniaex will no longer assume any management responsibility for the mining machine, especially the safety of the mining machine itself, liability for damage to the mining machine itself, and liability for damages caused to any third party, from the time the mining machine is delivered to the first carrier designated by the user.

3.3 If the user fails to take delivery of the mining machine more than 90 days after the expiration of the entrusted management period as described in "Article 3.2" of this Agreement, Laniaex reserves the right to charge a storage fee.

IV. Fee Burden

4.1 Users are required to pay Laniaex fees including annual mining machine rental fees, permanent mining machine purchase fees, entrusted management fees, and basic electricity charges. Please note that once an order is placed and payment is successful, it cannot be canceled or refunded. Special product categories will have their fee details and methods clearly stated on the purchase page. Please carefully read the product details on the purchase page to fully understand the fee burden.

4.2 The electricity price for active cloud computing power contracts is subject to actual display. Laniaex will automatically deduct the electricity fee from the mining income based on the current price of the output currency. If the user's mining income is insufficient to offset the electricity fee, Laniaex will temporarily deactivate the affected cloud computing power contract and notify the user through a user reservation. The payment of earnings will be suspended until the earnings offset the electricity fee. If force majeure causes the electricity price to increase, the user will be charged the new price.

V. Rights and Obligations between Users and Laniaex

5.1 Users Please Note: Laniaex is not a seller of mining machines. If a user purchases a mining machine, ownership of the machine will be transferred through a change of possession. However, the user must also use Laniaex's entrusted management service for at least one year to obtain possession and disposal rights.

5.2 If a user installs software on a host computer, Laniaex will provide the necessary software copyrights, licenses, and usage rights. Unless otherwise agreed upon in writing by both parties, Party A acknowledges that the rights to any information, software, or data provided by Laniaex to Party A belong to Laniaex. Users have no right to copy, disseminate, transfer, license, or provide these resources to others, and will assume the corresponding liability.

5.3 Laniaex provides warranty service for purchased mining machines. The warranty period, scope, and other terms are subject to the manufacturer's "Three Guarantees" service. The warranty period for purchased products begins on the date of product acceptance. If Party A fails to accept the product or raises an objection beyond the specified period in this contract, the warranty period will be 180 days, starting 25 hours after the product arrives at Party A's designated delivery location.

5.4 Both the user and Laniaex shall strictly comply with all provisions of this Agreement. If either party breaches the Agreement, the non-breaching party shall have the right to send a written notice to the breaching party. The breaching party shall provide a written explanation of the breach within 7 business days of receipt of the written notice. If the breaching party fails to provide the explanation within the agreed time limit and fails to correct the breach, the non-breaching party, as Party A, shall have the right to pursue remedies such as reporting, litigation, or arbitration. Laniaex shall have the right to take other legal technical measures to achieve self-help, but reserves the right to protect its own rights and interests through litigation and arbitration.

VI. Legal Statement Regarding Maximizing User Computing Power

Laniaex is committed to providing users with a one-stop digital currency computing power solution. However, the returns from digital currency computing power are affected by various factors, including the total computing power of the corresponding digital currency market, the distribution plan for digital currency mining at a given time, and fluctuations in the corresponding currency value, all of which are unpredictable. Each Party A must make an independent judgment regarding the returns from purchasing or leasing mining machines/computing power and should consider the risks and their own circumstances when deciding whether to purchase or lease mining machines/computing power. Laniaex does not promise returns and is not responsible for Party A's mining returns.

VII. Agreement Modification, Rescission, Termination, and Transfer of Rights and Obligations

7.1 Agreement Modification

Laniaex reserves the right to modify the terms of this Agreement, including the transaction method and escrow period, from time to time based on market needs, if such modification is deemed reasonable or necessary under the principle of good faith.

7.2.7 If a regulatory authority deems the Platform Services no longer compliant with relevant regulations;

7.2.8 In addition to the above reasons, we may terminate certain services based on risk and our own business operations. We will announce or notify you accordingly. As this is a normal business decision, you understand that we are not responsible for any inability or restriction of your use of the Platform Services as a result of this.

During the performance of this Agreement, all disputes and controversies arising out of or relating to this Agreement shall be resolved through negotiation by the parties. 10.4 If Laniaex's data center loses network or power due to force majeure, resulting in user losses, Laniaex shall promptly notify the user and prevent further losses. The user shall not hold Laniaex responsible. Both parties are exempt from liability in the above circumstances.

10.5 Laniaex may require a brief service interruption during network adjustments and maintenance, or experience a decrease in server access speed due to Internet congestion. Users acknowledge that this is normal and does not constitute a breach of contract by Laniaex.

10.6 Both parties are exempt from liability for signal interruptions caused by telecommunications line accidents, maintenance, damage, or interruptions, or other reasons caused by the postal and telecommunications departments, power companies, international fiber optic cable lines, the international Internet backbone network, or international partner networks.
